Welcome!

Look who has learned how to take selfies! Here I am pictured with two of the entertainers from Hofbrau Beer Garden in Panama City, Beach, Fla., where I had a rockin' good time in late January.

Our Spring edition wraps up our ninth season publishing Snowbirds Gulf Coast – and that's hard to believe!

This edition has an end-of-April shelf life for those of you who aren't quite ready to go home yet.

And, who could blame you?

Our cover couple, Leanna and Mel Trombley, hail from upstate New York near Syracuse. Their friends told them "don't come back" because the winter there had been so harsh. The Trombleys took that advice to heart and were able to book another month (through April) at their winter home at the pet-friendly Staybridge Suites in Gulf Shores, Ala. There they have a one-bedroom unit with free maid service once a week, full kitchen, daily breakfast and dinners four nights a week served with complimentary beer and wine, exercise room, social events and free business center.

Can I move in too?

This edition we fill three full pages with our photo galleries called Snaps. We've traveled from Lakeland to Gulf Shores this month capturing your smiling faces.

Our Spring calendar is full of great things to do and be sure to don your green on St. Patrick's Day and head out to one of the area's great events. Our casino calendar is full of great entertainment and it will be time to play ball again in April.

If you have company in town be sure to check out our Things to Do story for ideas. We are co-sponsoring a seven-day cruise out of New Orleans next Valentine's Week with Tammy's Journeys. Port stops are Montego Bay, Jamaica, Grand Cayman, Cayman Islands and Cozumel, Mexico.

Doesn't that sound like fun? We hope you join us! But, don't delay. Reports are cabins already are filling quickly. Transportation will be provided to and from the port. See the ad on page 20.

The winter weather has been so harsh in some regions this year that some schools – as far south as Nashville – are saying they may have to use some spring break days to make up for snow days.

Aren't you glad you are here? As always, WE are glad you are here.

Safe travels home. Be sure to sign up for our e-newsletter and let us hear from you.

All the Best,

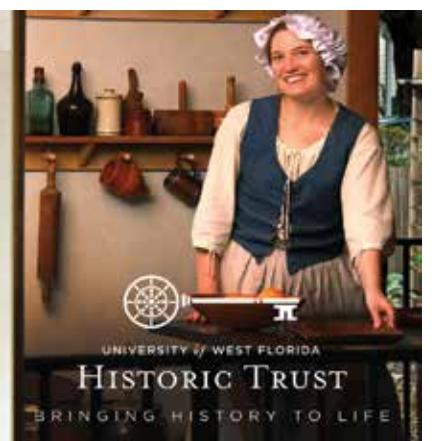

Karen Harrell, Publisher@SnowbirdsGulfCoast.com

Sweet (Snowbird) Home Alabama

Although they have been traveling to the Alabama Gulf Coast for some 20 years, Leanna and Mel Trombley finally made the decision this season to become actual "Snowbirds."

The Trombleys, both 63, hail from Harrisville, N.Y., located near Syracuse, N.Y., where winters can be harsh. This year has been especially brutal so the couple opted to extend their stay through April at the urging of friends who told them "don't come back home."

The couple have two daughters and six grandchildren, including Katherine and Kevin Curran of Albany, N.Y., and Amy and Jason Bonesteel of Dawsonville, Ga.

The couple became small business owners after retiring (Mel in the paper industry and Leanna as a chiropractic assistant) and will reopen them in late spring.

Q. Can you tell us about your the businesses.

In 1995 we brought an old farm with 56 acres on a tourist route into the Adirondacks to open an antique shop called Antiques by the Lake so we moved 18 miles to Harrisville from Carthage.

In 1997 we were offered a beeswax candle business. We had been selling them in our store because they went well with antiques. We called the new business Bonaparte Candle Co. after Lake Bonaparte which is located close to us. After a year we added scented jar candles, votives, pillars, t-lights, tarts and candle accessories. The business grew and we started doing candle parties and selling wholesale to other stores around the country.

In 2009 we had the opportunity to open a wine & liquor store because the one near us was closing. We named this business Bonaparte Wine & Spirits and located it in an 1800's barn located on our property.

Q. How did you discover the Alabama Gulf Coast and how many visits did you make before this year?

Part of the family had relocated here and we have been visiting here for 20 years.

Q. What led you to make the plunge into becoming actual Snowbirds this year?

We had been thinking of selling our property and businesses and retiring but decided that we love where we live and doing what we do. What we really didn't like was the long winters. It was decided to take the business's seasonal and spend the winters in Alabama.

Q. How did you find the Staybridge Suites and why did you choose to stay there?

We chose Staybridge Suites because we have two cats. Most rentals do not take pets especially cats. Leanna googled pet-friendly hotels and Staybridge came up. It looked like a nice place, close to the beach and everything else, we called for rates and here we are.

Q. Tell us a little about the atmosphere and activities there at the Staybridge Suites

The management and staff are excellent and strive to make you feel like this is your home. They take great strides to maintain the cleanliness and maintenance of the property. They provide a daily breakfast every morning and a meet and greet dinner Monday through Thursday. We meet people every day and have become good friends with a lot of them. There are a lot of folks who winter here every year.

Q. How often do you keep in touch with folks at home?

We keep in touch with friends a couple of times a week at home giving them our condolences about the weather.

Q. When you worked on your budget did you figure in the cost of running the utilities at your home and business had you stayed there this winter into your overall budget?

In planning our budget we looked at using less fuel by keeping our heat at a minimum temperature suspend our cable,internet,phone,no trash service and less plowing of the driveway. Our light bill has been cut in half. Our vehicle gas costs less in Alabama. But most important we are actually warm, something you never are back home.

Q. What will keep you coming back to the Alabama coast?

We will keep coming back because we have family here, the dining, beaches, friendly people and being close to everything. We would recommend that everyone back home get away from the harsh winter and enjoy the southern hospitality.

Q. Would you recommend the Alabama coast to others?

Yes, Alabama has a beach 30 some miles of sugar white sand better known around here as paradise.

One Crazy Sista Heads to Destin

The name Buffett is synonymous with the Gulf Coast.

Singer Jimmy Buffett's roots run deep from the Alabama and Mississippi coasts all the way to Key West and several of his Margaritaville Restaurants dot the coast.

But his younger sister, Lucy, is a well-known name in her own right through her Lulu's restaurant in Gulf Shores, Ala., a popular Snowbird gathering spot. A second Lulu's location is set to open in late spring in Destin.

Q: What can you tell us about Lucy Buffett?

LB: For those who don't know, LuLu is actually a childhood nickname given to me by my brother and sister and it's still what they call me today. I was the "crazy sista" in the family and I've been creating new chapters of my life ever since. As Julia Child would say, "Above all, have a good time." That's what it's all about. Not in a frivolous way but in a meaningful and thoughtful way. I inherited a middle class work ethic from my parents but I'm a baby boomer with a very free spirit and rebellious nature. I believe in working hard and enjoying life. I'm an optimist but when something isn't working, I will make a change in a heartbeat. And I always, always leave an open window for the unexpected. My greatest successes have come as a result of being able to recognize an unexpected opportunity that suddenly just appears. I'm a risk taker and when something doesn't work, I find a grace or a lesson in the situation. I think there is ALWAYS a place where I can improve both personally and professionally and I hold LuLu's and my management to those same intentions. Most importantly, I'm a stickler about respect. It's paramount in business that you have self respect first – and I'm not talking about egoist self-absorption. Then, you must have a deep respect for both your co-workers and your customers.

Q: What are you most excited about your new Destin Location?

LB: I'm most excited about taking the incredible LuLu's experience that we have created in Gulf Shores and doing the same thing in Destin ... literally spreading the Gumbo Love. This new location means growth for the LuLu's organization, advancement for some of our staff and new employment opportunities for others on the Emerald Coast. Destin has always been my first choice for a second LuLu's, not just because it is one of the top emerging tourist destinations in the country, but because the Panhandle is an extension of home for me.

Q: What is unique about this particular location in Destin?

LB: It's the ideal location for what we do and I adore it for several reasons including the fact that there is a bridge. That was a good omen because all of my restaurants have been by a bridge with a beautiful water view. The Destin location has this incredible view of the Choctawhatchee Bay and 90 percent of all the traffic to Destin comes across that bridge. That is great exposure for us. Also, this location is off the beaten path, which has always worked for LuLu's. There will be plenty of parking and room for expansion.

Q: Can you describe the LuLu's experience?

LB: It's all about escapism. There are so many different elements that go into the experience – the fabulous food, great service, family friendly environment, fun shopping, a beach for the kids, live entertainment and waterfront ambience – all in a facility designed to give a taste of the authentic Gulf Coast lifestyle. Our job is to make it look really easy and to give our customer permission to take a break from life for a while. Bottom line – it's all about food, fun, and family!

Q: Do you expect Jimmy at the new place?

LB: You never know when Jimmy will stop by. I'm sure we'll see him pop in for lunch some time because he a big fan of my gumbo!

History tour & Tea

Southern style

By: Alice Crann Good

While studying the history of architecture is essential to preservation and restoration, it also enables us to understand the society and culture the architecture represents.

Come appreciate some of Mobile's grand historic homes and learn how to recognize various architectural styles including Colonial Revival, Spanish Colonial Revival, Greek Revival, Italianate and Gothic Revival. Presented by the Historic Mobile Preservation Society, the Mobile Historic Homes Tour is 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, March 13-14.

"The Mobile Historic Homes Tour is a landmark event, going on its 46th year, that offers visitors an intimate look into the history and architecture of historic homes that are not open to the public," says Erica McElhaney, president of the board of directors for the Historic Mobile Preservation Society.

"We are featuring homes in the Spring Hill area of Mobile. Spring Hill is not a designated historic district, but rather, has a large concentration of individually registered homes on the National Register. This year's tour also offers behind-the-scenes passes into some of Mobile's most historic churches.

"This popular event is enjoyed by our visitors and locals alike," McElhaney says. "Enjoy the ease of traveling between homes by taking advantage of our transportation. Park centrally and ride the trolley to the homes, which are handpicked by our local architectural historians."

Tour tickets are $25 in advance and $30 day of tour. A ticket is good for one visit at each location March 13-14, the trolley ride in Spring Hill and the price of admission to Historic Oakleigh, which just reopened after improvements. Purchase tickets online at www.historicmobiletour.com. For more tour information, call (251) 432-6161, visit www.historicmobile.org/historic-homes-tour or send an email to hmps@bellsouth.net.

"This is one of our most successful fundraisers," McElhaney says. "The proceeds go toward furthering the mission of HMPS and provide support for the development of future programs that focus on heritage tourism in this historic port city."

Tea, too

Everyone is also invited to enjoy "Spring Tea" at the Bragg-Mitchell Mansion 1 to 4 p.m. Friday, March 13. In lavish Southern style, the fundraiser promises delicious treats served in a setting reminiscent of days-gone-by. Admission is $12 for adults and $8 for children, 12 years and younger, and includes a tour of the mansion. Don't forget to stop by the gift shop.

Built in 1855 by Judge John Bragg, the mansion is a 13,000-square foot Greek Revival at 1906 Springhill Ave. Bragg built the home for his wife and family to enjoy Mobile's social season, Thanksgiving through Mardi Gras. Bragg family members split their time between the mansion and their cotton plantation in Lowndes County outside of Montgomery. Judge Bragg died in 1878, and four additional families have owned the home since his passing.

The long-term goal is to restore the building, grounds and furnishings to reflect lifestyles of previous owners.

Purchase tickets for the tea online at www.brownpapertickets.com/event/1233543, by calling or at the door, depending on availability. All proceeds support the preservation and operation of the Bragg-Mitchell Mansion.

For more information about the Bragg-Mitchell Mansion "Spring Tea" or hosting a party at the mansion, call (251) 471-6364 or visit www.braggmitchellmansion.com.

Properties of 2015 Mobile Historic Homes Tour

Thomas Shannon Hunter House, 4058 Old Shell Road

Dating from 1923, this Colonial Revival residence was designed by George B. Rogers, a prominent Mobile architect. Of the 100-plus private homes designed by Rogers, the Hunter House is the only one to remain in the hands of descendants of the original owners. The expansive landscaped grounds surrounding the main residence date from the mid-19th Century.

Pentel-Horst House, 12 Provident Lane

Built for Russian émigré interior designer Irene Pentel in 1962, this house is one of Mobile's finest mid-20th Century modernistic gems. With her home, Pentel not only provided Mobilians with a three-dimensional calling card of her talents, but also a subtle architectural cocktail that blends two currents of modern design – Mobile's marriage of Fallingwater and Glass House.

St. Paul's Chapel, 4051 Old Shell Road

St. Paul's Chapel is the most picturesque of Mobile's historic houses of worship. Dating from 1859, this delightful building combines forms, motifs and construction methods associated with Greek Revival, Italianate and Gothic Revival. A finely scaled portico fronts a board-and-batten-sided building featuring round-headed windows with Gothic tracery. The design has long been attributed to Albert Stein, founder of Mobile's Waterworks, and John Dawson, owner of nearby Azalea Hall. The building still serves the Episcopal community of Spring Hill.

1 Country Club, 1 Country Club Road

Of all the Period Revival styles of the first half of the 20th Century, none possessed as much local nuance and mystique as the Spanish Colonial Revival and Mission styles. No building of the city's Spanish colonial era rivaled houses such as 1 Country Club. It is one of the best preserved of Country Club Estates houses showcasing a Latin flair. With their stuccoed walls, tiled roofs and exposed rafters, these houses lent an air of exoticism to Spring Hill's oldest planned development.

"Bricks and Mortar," 4670 Old Shell Road

Dating from the 1920s, this spacious 20th Century picturesque dwelling is an architectural manifestation of the Golden Age of suburban expansion in Mobile. Starting in 1900, individual dwellings and consciously planned residential developments advanced far beyond the city center into surrounding farmlands and summer communities. Built just outside of Country Club Estates, the property has a history that is only beginning to be rediscovered. The main house is this year's "bricks and mortar" tour.

Spring Hill Graveyard

Few environments are as atmospheric as Spring Hill's Graveyard. Shrouded in trees and enclosed by fencing, this hauntingly romantic landscaped setting is one of the unsung wonders of Mobile's cultural landscape. The park-like setting is filled with handsome memorials of individuals and families who defined Mobile's past and still impact the city's development and progress. A meander through Spring Hill Graveyard allows for an experiential history of Mobile.

St. Joseph's

Spring Hill College is Alabama's oldest institution of higher education. St. Joseph's Chapel is the college's spiritual and geographical center. Dating from 1909, the building perpetuates the Gothic Revival motifs of Spring Hill's monumental Administration Building. The firm of Downey and Denham, architects of numerous notable homes on North Monterey Street, designed this handsome collegiate Gothic building.

Solidarity Chapel

Dating from 1850, Solidarity Chapel constitutes the oldest surviving structure on Spring Hill College's park-like campus. The temple feel imparted by the gabled façade imparts a Greek Revival air that worked in concert with Spring Hill's early classical buildings. The elegant simplicity and amenability to wood construction were just two reasons behind the pervasive and long running popularity of Greek Revival in Mobile. Solidarity Chapel exemplifies the nobility and the practicality of the idiom.

Biloxi Adds Baseball

Snowbirds who want to see future Major League baseball stars or just see some good-ole fashioned Double-A baseball in some of the prettiest minor-league baseball parks in the nation will soon have three choices all in a 120-mile radius.

The Biloxi (Miss.) Shuckers are joining the Southern League in 2015. They are part of an I-10 connection that includes the Mobile (Ala.) BayBears and the Pensacola (Fla.) Blue Wahoos, all within 2 hours of each other.

The Shuckers' ownership bought the team from Huntsville, Ala., and are an affiliate of the Milwaukee Brewers. They will play in MGM Park, a 6,000-seat facility, that will swell to 6,500 for standing-room only crowds.

Co-owner Tim Bennett said the original plan to bring baseball to Biloxi started 11 years ago.

"But we had Hurricane Katrina (in 2005), then the recession, then the oil spill," he said. "It's hard to believe we're finally here. We had all kinds of obstacles, but now everyone is on board."

The ballpark is also a boost to the coast area. Plans are to bring in big-name concerts and the stadium will be able to accommodate 14,000 fans. A bowling complex and entertainment center, as well as a 250-room hotel will eventually be built adjacent to the ballpark.

Plus, with the nearby casinos and hotels, there are about 2,000 hotel rooms within walking distance.

Bennett said they are on track with their season-ticket goals and all of the suites have been sold. He said watching how the Pensacola team started out three years ago and the Shuckers hiring experienced baseball people has given them information to ensure their start is just as successful.

"I've surrounded myself with the very best people," Bennett said. "We want this to be an experience where people want to come back."

BLUE WAHOOS

There's a reason why Shuckers' front-office personnel watched the Blue Wahoos. The Pensacola team opened its waterfront park three years ago and has topped 300,000 fans in each of its first three seasons.

"We are exactly where we wanted to be," said team owner Quint Studer. "Our focus wasn't going to be on the first couple of years because we knew it would be a success with the newness of being an affiliated minor-league team. Our focus was always Year 3 and beyond."

For the fourth year in a row, season tickets are sold out and there's a waiting list for businesses wanting to be a sponsor on the outfield wall.

"It's a great testament to our employees and fans," Studer said. "We've been more aggressive in measuring the fan experience and the employee satisfaction. It's always hold what you have and give a little bit more."

The Blue Wahoos, an affiliate of the Cincinnati Reds, open their home schedule April 9 against Biloxi and will schedule buses to take their fans to games at Mobile and Biloxi. Earlier this year, the team announced that PGA Tour star and defending Masters champion Bubba Watson has purchased part of the team.

"The Southern League is a fun journey," Studer said. "Now you can go from Jacksonville to Biloxi and see four teams along I-10, then go up through Mississippi and Tennessee."

The Mobile BayBears have been playing at Hank Aaron Stadium since 1997. Winners of the Southern League championship in 2011 and 2012, the team opens its home schedule April 15 against Biloxi.

FLORIDA SPRING TRAINING

Baseball is right around the corner. And for Snowbirds in central and south Florida, it's here.

Fifteen major-league baseball teams are in spring training in Florida as they all set their sights on a World Series title. Exhibition games start March 1 and go through April 4. Opening Day is April 6.

The teams and spring locations:
 Atlanta Braves – Lake Buena Vista
 Baltimore Orioles – Sarasota
 Boston Red Sox – Lee County
 Detroit Tigers – Lakeland
 Houston Astros – Kissimmee
 Florida Marlins – Jupiter
 Minnesota Twins – Fort Myers
 New York Mets – Port St. Lucie
 New York Yankees – Tampa
 Philadelphia Phillies – Clearwater
 Pittsburgh Pirates – Bradenton
 St. Louis Cardinals – Jupiter
 Tampa Bay Rays – Charlotte County
 Toronto Blue Jays – Dunedin
 Washington Nationals – Viera

Baseball teams have been coming to Florida for spring training for more than 125 years.

No one has a definitive explanation of how Grapefruit League, which is what spring training in Florida is called, got its name. (Spring training in Arizona is called the Cactus League.)

One story is that in 1915, an early aviator took up a Los Angeles Dodger baseball player up in the sky. The player wanted to toss a baseball from the plane to his manager.

Thinking a baseball might kill someone if dropped from a plane, they decided to toss a grapefruit, which hit the manager in the chest and exploded. The manager, thinking it was a baseball, thought he was severely injured and the juice was actually from his chest, hence the Grapefruit League. Go to mlb.com/springtraining for information on schedules and ticket prices for teams.

Snowbirds who want to watch PGA Tour stars they followed during their heyday can check them out at the 2015 Mississippi Gulf Resort Classic Presented by C Spire will take place on March 23-29 at Fallen Oak in Biloxi, Miss.

This Champions Tour event is now in its sixth year on the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The tournament expects to attract another world-class field. Last year's event featured nine World Golf Hall of Fame members, 20 PGA TOUR Major winners covering 33 titles, and 22 Champions Tour Major winners covering 37 titles. Past champions include Jeff Maggert, Michael Allen, Fred Couples, Tom Lehman and David Eger.

If you want to do more than watch, you can volunteer. Volunteer registration is now open online at www.2015MGRC.com. Volunteers receive a volunteer package valued at $350 for their registration fee of $60.

Tickets are $15 a day. Go to www.2015mgrc.com to buy the tickets or for more information. Fallen Oak is located just north of Biloxi, Miss.

Senior Adult Dental Health

A second-generation dentist, a mother of four and a wife to Dr. Olivier Broutin DMD, MAGD, MICOI of Bluewater Bay Dental, Dr. Wiebe is a proud graduate of the University of Notre Dame and the University of Florida College of Dentistry. She is currently enrolled in postgraduate training in multiple aspects of dentistry and cosmetic treatments. Dedicated to technology and constantly training, Dr. Wiebe attends at least 10 times more continuing education per year than what is required for dentists in the State of Florida. Since the year 2000, Dr. Wiebe has been transforming smiles and faces by providing quality, gentle dental care for the people of South Walton, Destin and surrounding areas.

Q. How does dental care relate to overall health?

A: The mouth is full of bacteria. Although most bacteria found in the mouth are harmless, daily brushing, flossing and regular visits to the dentists are key to maintaining health and quality of life. In fact, recent studies show that chronic inflammation from gum issues and cavities can actually be detrimental to artery health.

Q. What areas are overlooked by most seniors in terms of their overall dental and health care?

A: As you age, your teeth become more brittle and are more prone to breakage and cavities. Commonly we see fractured old fillings and cracked teeth. Unfortunately this can lead to root canals and even losing the tooth.

Another commonly overlooked area of dental care in most seniors tends to be root surface cavities. Most common in older adults, exposed roots are susceptible to cavities faster than other parts of the tooth because the roots do not have the protective hard enamel found on other parts of the tooth.

Q. Many seniors smoked or are lifelong coffee and tea drinkers and their teeth show the effects. What are some solutions for bringing back a whiter smile?

A: From a cup of coffee in the morning to tea with lunch, with each sip teeth come into contact with a staining agent and after a while, the effects begin to show. Dr. Wiebe has a number of suggestions for smile whitening. For individuals with history of smoking, diabetes, or gum disease, Dr. Wiebe suggests visiting every three to four months for regular cleanings. Aside from regular cleanings, Dr. Wiebe also offers advanced whitening techniques including ZOOM!2 Advanced Power Whitening, KoR Deep Bleaching and take home trays. Thanks to her training from the Las Vegas Institute (LVI) for Cosmetic Dentistry, Dr. Wiebe has advanced training and can use multiple crowns to create amazing smile makeovers, therefore changing the color, shape and alignment of your teeth.

Q. What do you see as the next frontier not just for senior dental care but overall dental health care?

A: Dental implants are rapidly becoming a popular trend in the dental community. A relatively simple innovation, dental implants can completely transform a mouth of any age. By inserting biocompatible Titanium posts into the bone, where the tooth's root was previously, the living bone is stimulated and prevents further tooth loss, keeping your face youthfully supported.

Bowden's Legacy

The Gulf Coast lost an icon in February . J. Earle Bowden is known as the "Father of the Gulf Islands National Seashore." He also played an integral role the preserving the historical integrity of downtown Pensacola – which today is enjoying a true renaissance.

We featured Mr. Bowden on our cover in 2009 and told his story.

Fortunately, for us, he told many stories – as a longtime editor and cartoonist at the Pensacola News Journal and through his books available at area bookstores, the Gulf Islands National Seashore Visitor Center in Gulf Breeze, Fla., and other locations.

Among them is "Gulf Islands: The Sands of All Time, Preserving America's Largest National Seashore, 1994" which details the effort. Also, a PBS special "Gulf Islands National Seashore: The Treasure of the Gulf Coast" includes Mr. Bowden's legacy and it can be viewed at www.pbs.org.

Mr. Bowden and other leaders in the 1960s foresaw the rampant development that was to come along our seashores - and he fought tirelessly to preserve a piece of it for the rest of us. Gulf Islands National Seashore stretches from the Mississippi Gulf Coast to the Florida Panhandle. There you can observe nature as the first explorers did several hundred years ago.

Day visitors and campers at Fort Pickens enjoy Bowden's legacy. Visitors to the Perdido Key, Okaloosa Island, Navarre Beach and Mississippi coast areas enjoy ample trails and picnic facilities.

One of the prettiest drives anywhere is the stretch known as Earle Bowden Way on state road 399 between Pensacola Beach and Navarre Beach.

We thank you, Mr. Bowden for your foresight. You are an icon whose life has had – and will have – an effect on generations to come.

Emerald Coast History

If you enjoy reading about history, then these two books will help bring the Emerald Coast stretch between Fort Walton Beach/Okaloosa Island and Destin to life.

"Salty Memories...Along The Coastal Highway" is a loving collection of photographic historical memories compiled by Destin historian Tony Mennillo whose father, Arturo, was a professional photographer and grandfather, Capt. Reddin "Salty" Brunson, a local fishing icon.

The book also compiles memories from locals such as Peggy and Tom Rice whose family are among the earliest residents and influencers. You can pick up copies at local bookstores, at the Rice's iconic restaurant The Magnolia Grill in downtown Fort Walton Beach or online book sites such as Amazon.com. More information on the author and his family's legacy are available at www.arturosstudio.com.

Also look for a new book in the Arcadia Publishing's "Images of America" series is on the Gulfarium Marine Adventure Park. The book outlines how the new attraction, conceived and developed in the 1950s, which was set in the middle of an undeveloped spit of sand bordered by an unpaved road and sand dunes helped develop the region's tourism industry.

The book is available at The Gulfarium and at bookstores.
